GETS BACK AT "BERT"

Frank Chapman, Once Called the Bilious Man, Sends a Clipping.

In a recent issue of this paper appeared a little anecdote concerning Gen. H. M. Lord, the bootblack and the budget. Fearful lest it had escaped our attention Frank Chapman sends a similar clipping from the Los Angeles Times, this one being prefaced by a cartoon in which the bootblack is asking General Lord if he "kain't budge the budget."

Mr. Chapman writes: "I do not know whether you have seen the cutting enclosed of Gen. Lord and his budget, so I am taking the pleasure of sending it to you. I owe him one anyway, as a good many years ago, when I used to collect gas and electric bills for the Power Company, under Mr. Hawken's management, Bert once referred to me as 'the bilious man.'"

"Mrs. Chapman, who is one of the Dunton girls, of Camden, and I are spending a few months here in Hollywood, and I clipped this from a Los Angeles paper, and thought you would appreciate it."

GOOD FOR "MAL"!

Former Rockland Baseball Captain Gets Big Job At Bowdoin.

President Sills of Bowdoin College announced Tuesday the selection of Malcolm E. Morrill, Bowdoin '24, as acting director of athletics and acting graduate manager of athletics with full charge of coaching the football team. Mr. Morrill will succeed Prof. John M. Cates who leaves Bowdoin July 1 to become athletic director at Yale University.

Mr. Morrill came to Bowdoin after two years service in the army. He was overseas one year as a second lieutenant of the 328th Infantry and took part in the St. Mihiel and Argonne offensives. He is 32 years old and a native of Wayland, Mass.

At Bowdoin he was a star athlete, was pitcher and second baseman of the baseball team four years, played basketball and football three years and was captain of the football team his senior year. He was athletic director at Cony High School, Augusta, the season following his graduation and the last two years has been Prof. Cates' assistant as athletic director and football coach.

"Mal" Morrill is best known to Knox County baseball fans as former captain and catcher of the Rockland team, and his many friends are well pleased at his promotion.

A JOINT BUDGET CAMPAIGN

George B. Wood Named As Knox County Chairman In Statewide Campaign, Week of April 4th.

The organization for the Maine State and its attractions and advantages for recreational purposes. The State Chamber of Commerce is an organization which has most effectively informed the outside world during recent years of Maine's wonderful resources and the advantages which Maine has to offer for commercial, industrial and agricultural industries.

The New England Council is an organization representative of all the States of New England, which has undertaken the task of gathering information and statistics relative to New England and formulating constructive plans for New England's progressive advancement.

All of these organizations, by the force of facts and publicity are creating a new thought in the minds of people outside of New England and instilling a new spirit in the hearts of New Englanders themselves. A firm conviction that New England is not a land whose glory is entirely in the past, but to the contrary is a land with a most brilliant future.

Maine is the first of the New England States to actively take advantage of its opportunities. Statistics show that $100,000,000 of outside money has been brought into the State of Maine in one year, primarily on account of the publicity and organized efforts which have been put forth by the Maine Publicity Bureau, the State Chamber of Commerce and the Maine Division of the New England Council.

The Maine Publicity Bureau is the active State organization which can take credit for a most successful campaign of advertising during recent years. The Maine Publicity Bureau features the beauties of our

SMITH WILL IS FILED

Members of the Family Alone Figure In Last Testament of the Warrenton Park Multimillionaire.

The will of the late Benjamin F. Smith, who had spent the greater part of his later years at Warrenton Park, was filed in the Knox Registry of Probate. The bequests are wholly of a family nature, and there is an utter absence of figures which would convey the slightest hint Baldrige, at whose home on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, he was spending the winter. All of the remaining property, according to the will, is divided into 20 equal parts. To each of the grandchildren—Clifford Warren Smith, Clifford Smith, Dudley Francis Wolfe Smith, Gwendolen Florence Wolf Rochester and Grafton Smith—is given three-twentieths. Five-twentieths are left in the custody of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, with Clifford Warren Smith, Clifford Smith, Dudley Francis Wolfe Smith and Grafton Smith as trustees, to hold, invest and reinvest the same and pay net income therefrom to Mabel Florence Baldrige as long as she lives, and upon her death to assign and pay over the principal to the five grandchildren or the survivors, in equal shares, except that the descendants then living of any grandchildren then dead, shall take their parents' share by representation.

The four grandsons are named as executors. The will was drawn Feb. 17, 1925, and was witnessed by Amory Eliot of Manchester, Mass., Edward M. Howland of Boston, and Frank B. Butts of Melrose, Mass.

Local estimates of the value of the Smith estate, and the estimates are conceded to be very largely guesswork, place the property at $20,000,000.

DISCUSSED NEW ENGLAND COUNCIL

President Stetson of Bangor Chamber of Commerce Pleaded Rockland Men—The "Keene" Plan.

Every available seat in the Elks dining room and tables in the ante rooms adjoining were necessary to accommodate the patrons at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night and it was a rattling good chicken supper that the white coats brought on. This was followed by a lively song session led by Dr. R. W. Bickford and George Ryan with Steven Cables at the piano assisted by Homer E. Robinson as announcer.

Clarence O. Stetson, president of the Bangor Chamber of Commerce, made an excellent appearance and brought a brief but highly interesting story of the accomplishments of the New England Council. Many of his hearers were learning their first detailed facts concerning the Council and this made Mr. Stetson's talk all the more interesting.

The speaker sketched the origin of the Council from its inception at the meeting of the Governors at Poland Spring in 1926 and brought it up to its present degree of thorough organization throughout New England as represented by the November meeting in Worcester when 2000 persons were in attendance including delegates from practically every community. He defined the objective of the Council as the developing of a distinct New England consciousness and a local community consciousness, all designed to advance the power and retain the preeminence of this group of States.

As to the actual accomplishments of the Council he mentioned the work in commonwealth relations which has developed a uniform system of surveys with the assistance of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Particular interest attached to the work of the Council on the matter of inter-State power transmission. It has worked out a scheme whereby a "voluntary submission" whereby all inter-State questions on rates, plant, rights, etc., are voluntarily submitted to the joint commission of the States affected. The several power companies being agreed to abide by their decisions. This plan has served to avoid the most dreaded Federal Power Control, or at least to stave it off, according to Mr. Stetson, and this fact alone has more than justified the existence of the Council. In conclusion he enlisted the universal support of the Rockland Chamber members to the support of the Council. A lively open forum followed the session.

nology, these surveys enabling the communities to know their strong and weak points and how to capitalize the same. Bangor is at present working on the idea. In connection he discussed in detail the Keene Development Co. idea whereby a corporation is formed with the idea of bringing industries into a community. It has been conspicuously successful in Keene, N. H., and Bangor is putting the idea into execution at the present time, subsidizing a factory building for the Brewer Manufacturing Co.

Mr. Stetson told his interested hearers of the work done by the Council on recreation most outstandingly successful in Maine. The recreational advertising has been found most effective through industrial publicity. Agricultural and hard woods surveys have also been made and advantageous results obtained.

THREE TIMES-A-WEEK

Rockland, Maine, March 24, 1927.
Personally appeared Frank S. Lydell, who oath declares that he is President of the was printed a total of 683 copies.

Before me, FRANK B. MILLER, Notary Public.

Thou wilt show me the path of life: In thy presence is fullness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures

Gen. Neal Dow was born 123 years ago, and long since passed from the sphere of earthly activity, yet "The Father of Prohibition" is still living in the minds of the grateful people who believe as he believed. Anniversary exercises were held in the First Baptist Church of Portland Sunday night and the speaker was Senator Frazier of North Dakota who declared that prohibition has been a success in spite of half-hearted endorsement and despite the wave of lawlessness which was the aftermath of the World War. Senator Frazier did not clothe his views in hifalutin phrases and flowery language, but he did offer to go into any city and town formerly "wet" and compare conditions in the working man's home, his savings account, and the police records, with the condition which prevailed in the pre-Volstead era. The speaker said, what many others believe, that there has never been an honest effort to enforce the 18th Amendment, and that the friends of prohibition have been asleep. In spite of Senator Frazier's statement the enforcement has been vigorous enough so that some toes have been trod upon.

Are you men folks sorry you don't live in London? The spring styles over there decree that brunette men will wear tomato red suits; that sunshine yellow will be suitable for those with whom it harmonizes, while raven purple is generally offered by the fashionable tailors.
The London tailors are striving to convert their customers away from the traditional dark grays, blues and browns which make London streets so drab. With garbs like those above described there will be much less likelihood of accidents on account of the "Lunnon" fogs.

Senator Heflin of Alabama served notice Sunday that the Prohibition-ists of the South are going to tell Al. Smith to "keep out." Declaring that the New York governor and his followers had started their Presidential campaign in the South through North Carolina, and added that "North Carolina is not for sale to the wet forces of the nation." Admitting that much time has been lost in the campaign against Smith the Alabama Senator said that amends would be made for it between now and spring.

John G. Towne, the former department commander of the American Legion in Maine, told Bath Rotarians the other day that another World War has started in China; that Germany is working through Russia and Communism to again set the world ablaze. Mr. Towne's version of the situation is probably a bit overdrawn, but there are all sorts of possibilities in the Chinese situation, and everybody will feel relieved when this Oriental quarrel has been adjusted.

Col. Farnham's address before the Forty Club yesterday brought new light to many members who have listened to the opposition to the Smith power bill, as voiced by ex-Gov. Baxter. That the passage of the bill would mean a speedy re-adjustment of electricity rates, in favor of the consumer, is one argument which can result in little else than a favorable response.

There's always somebody taking the joy out of life. The Kickapoo went to Bangor and broke up the ice so that navigation could be restored, which, as you will agree, was very fine. But it appears that everybody in Bangor bets on when the ice will go out of the Penobscot, and those who based their wagers on the usual time are now sore because the Kickapoo pushed the ice out three weeks ahead of time.

and a day. The trial was given a great deal of publicity and certain phases excited many laughs. This is one phase which will not appeal to the debonaire Carroll as especially amusing.

The House of Commons in England is on its dignity these days. The Speaker has ruled that it is unparliamentary and ungentlemanly for man to call another "skunk." Now what will become of the game of checkers if that word is barred?

One doesn't hear much about Esperanto these days. But former disciples of the "universal language" will be interested to know that the first Esperanto currency has been issued in Holland.

We don't want any more wars in this country, but what a relief it would be if we could read and discuss war news once more and be able to pronounce the names.

PARK THEATRE

"The Telephone Girl" with Madge Bellamy, Warner Baxter and Lawrence Gray, will have its last showing today.

A novel story has at last found its way to the screen in Fred Thomson's latest P. B. O. production, "A Regular Scout," to be shown Friday and Saturday. Never before in the history of pictures have the Boy Scouts, their ideals, training and remarkable influence been shown to the public.
This intimate glimpse of one of the most powerful organizations in the world is at once vastly interesting and tremendously instructive.
National headquarters appointed Edward B. De Groot, Scout Executive of the Los Angeles Council, to lend his assistance during the filming of the picture in order to insure technical accuracy in everything pertaining to the Scouts. Aside from the seven Scout troops used throughout the picture, the cast numbers many favorites such as Olive Has-broff, Mary Carr, Margaret Seddon, T. Roy Barnes, Buck Black, William Courtright, Bob McKim, Harry Woods and of course, Silver King.

The other feature is Viola Dana in "Salvation Jane."—adv.

today is Alvin Vaughn in "Uncas"

A thrilling horse race furnishes the climax of "Loco Luck," the latest Art Acord feature which will be shown Friday and Saturday. In the excellent supporting cast are Fay Wray, Aggie Herring, William Steele, Al Jennings, George Grandee, George Kesterson and George Marion.—adv.

AVOID DIZZY SPELLS

Never well. Always tired and fagged out. Beauty tossed away by neglect.
To be beautiful and to keep youth the system must be free from poisonous backwash of constipation which often causes dizzy spells. For 20 years, Dr.
F. M. Edwards gave his patients, in place of calomel, a compound of vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, namely Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.
Known by their olive color. They free the system of poisons that ravage health, energy, beauty.

You need never have sallow complexion, dailies, constipated bowels, throbbing headaches—all signs that your bowels are clogged, liver is torpid. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly.
They act smoothly and without griping.
How much better you'll feel and look! Everywhere wise men and women who know the value of good health take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

"SAINT JOAN"

Rev. W. S. Rounds Wins
New Laurels As Play Reader Before Shakespeare Society.

The Shakespeare Society was entertained by Mrs. Emily Stevens at her attractive Talbot avenue home Monday evening. Twenty-five members answered roll-call. The reading committee was announced at this time as Mrs. Grace Lawrence, chairman, Mrs. Rosa Littlefield, Mrs. Ruth Whittemore, Mrs. Edith Bird, chairman of program committee, reported that Alfred Strout would accept the invitation to give his talk on "Shakespeare and the Bible," at the annual meeting, April 4. A nominating committee, consisting of Miss Anna J.
Thordike, chairman, Mrs. Harriet Moore and Mrs. Alice Jameson was appointed.

Mrs. Ruth Ellingwood, president, introduced Rev. Walter S. Rounds in a clever rhyme saying he was adding another laurel to the many he already had—that of play-reader. His subject was Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan." Mr. Rounds read with much eloquence and made his points most effective. Saint Joan was pictured as young, not handsome, but robust and healthy looking, in peasant's garb, with bobbed hair, speaking with an air of authority and no tremor of fear. When she speaks of the "voices," there is a reverence and sanctity that bespeak her earnestness, and at the same time awakens a feeling that she is possessed of something supernatural, in those who listen to her. For when a sturdy figure displays unusual mental powers, the ignorant are more quickly convinced. This is the Joan Mr.
Rounds drew all through the play, even at the gruesome trial scene.
She is just a simple farmer-girl, uneducated, but she commands attention, inspires fear in those who oppose her—she relying solely on God, who has given her the unusual powers. It was never "I say so," but "God says so."

Mr. Rounds placed "The Maid" before his audience in a clear, concise and powerful manner. One saw the living Joan, as Bernard Shaw intended.

Mr. Shaw has embodied in his drawing of Joan the Spirit of France which was so gloriously active when faced by a cruel enemy. She is the most notable warrior saint in the Christian calendar; born about 1412; burned for heresy, witchcraft and sorcery in 1431; rehabilitated in 1456; designated venerable in 1904; declared Blessed in 1908; finally canonized in 1920. Shaw declares in his Preface to St. Joan. She was the pioneer of rational dressing for women, and refused to accept the specific woman's lot, dressed and coined and lived as men did. She was famous throughout Europe. She claimed to be the ambassador of God, patronized her own King, and summoned the English king to repentance and obedience to her commands.
She lectured, talked down, and overruled statesmen, prelates, generals, leading her troops to victory on plans of her own. She had a craze for soldiering, and her father threatened to drown her if she ran away with the soldiers.

Her death was deliberately chosen as an alternative to life without liberty. In the end Joan says: "His ways are not your ways. He wills that I go through fire to His bosom, for I am His child, and you are not fit that I should live among you.
That is my last word to you."

Those who were absent missed a positive treat.

Quite evident it is that there is a treat in store for all who attend the Senior class play "The Whole Town's Talking," which will be presented in the High School auditorium tomorrow evening. Everybody Perry and Donald Cameron have the feminine and male leads, respectively, and are supported by a cast that is bound to give a good account of itself.
The synopsis of the comedy shows that Mr. Simmons, senior partner in a paint business, has a marriageable daughter. For business reasons he wants her to marry the junior partner, Mr. Binney, but the junior partner is the kind of bachelor no woman likes. The senior partner has the idea that every woman would like to get that man whom every other woman wants. Therefore he conceives the brilliant idea of inventing a few love affairs for his partner.
At random, he selects from a bookshop some photographs of beautiful women. One of them is a motion picture star, and she is decided upon.
Matters are somewhat complicated when this star appears in town on a personal tour with one of her pictures. Things move rapidly to an interesting climax. Miss Marion Pierce is coaching the play, the object of which is to raise funds for graduation expenses.

In a recent issue The Courier-Gazette announced that Miss Marion Brawn of this city had been elected to the Phi Beta Kappa Society.
From the Bates News Bureau comes the following statement: "Marion Brawn, daughter of William F.
Brawn of 276 Broadway, Rockland, a senior at Bates College, was recently elected to the Gamma Chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. This is the highest scholastic reward that a college can give and is in recognition of marked ability on the part of the student since all members of the society have to have an average of 88 per cent or over. At Bates the members are the 10 per cent of the senior class who have the highest rank. Miss Brawn has been an assistant in Greek this year and is a candidate for honor work in that subject. She is a member of Cosmos Club, Phi-Hellenic, Outing Club, and Y. W. C. A."

Charles T. Spear recalls that the heavy snowfall referred to recently by Ira Sidelinger took place April 7-9, 1907. Mr. Spear was operating a large greenhouse at the time and was fearful of the weight of the snow breaking in the glass roof.

Rockland people who attended "Ye Old Fashioned Minstrels" in Rockport town hall Monday and Tuesday nights, came home well pleased with the entertainment. Rockport has some extra good talent, and the remodeled town hall is a fine place in which such entertainments may be given.

The preliminaries in the interclass basketball tournament were pulled off in the High School gym last night, when the seniors defeated the freshmen 15 to 11 and the juniors defeated the sophomores 17 to 16. The latter contest was featured by Marsh's sensational shot in the last few seconds of play.

Oliver Hamlin writes from Brooklyn that he has received his boxing license and will soon get going in the ring. He is in fine shape and ready to go. As noted in today's advertising column, there is a fine chance for two Rockland young men in the garage belonging to the brother of the man with whom Hamlin is training.

About this time of the year people are generally changing from winter to spring garments. It would be a good idea, instead of storing these winter garments away to send them to Miss Corbett, the City Matron, where she has opportunity and convenience to keep them until next fall or winter. Clothing is always needed, especially now, and should be sent to the City Building, or phone 663-W or 398-W if clothing is to be called for.

The unusual appreciation accorded the singing of the cantata "The 46th Psalm," Tuesday evening by the First Baptist choir has brought a strong demand for a second performance. The choir and soloists have arranged to give the public the pleasure of hearing this cantata Sunday night at 7.15, at the First Baptist Church. The cantata is full of life and color and is not long. Since the Pageant of the Ten Virgins will be given the same evening, those desiring good seats must go early.

"A Granite street resident discovered smoke creeping from the eaves and window casings of the Elks club house Tuesday night, took one glance at the lazily lighted windows and turned in an alarm from Box 46. The apparatus responded quickly and the smoke-helmeted fire laddies were astounded to discover instead of a conflagration only a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce." This was the sort of item some non-smokers expected to see concerning the Tuesday night meeting.

An unsigned postcard received at this office yesterday takes the editor to task for not being an ornithologist, and asserts that the "season's first woodpecker" has been here all winter. A correspondent is also taken to task for including the starling as a "new arrival." He also has been here all winter, according to the anonymous contributor. The editor and the correspondent stand corrected, but the former wishes to amend his own statement by saying that the woodpecker was heard in his trees for the first time this season. Meanwhile the Courier-Gazette will gladly welcome some first hand information from the writer of the post card.

Everybody knows what a beautiful place North Haven is, but comparatively few persons who do not go there, are aware of what an impressive summer colony has sprung up on the island.

William A. Glover was made a member of the board of directors of Community Chest Tuesday afternoon, replacing Alan F. McAlary, who resigned through pressure of business. Mr. Glover also went on the executive board. H. P. Blodgett was made chairman of the budget committee which handles the appropriations. The Chamber of Commerce will put on the campaign this year.

Deputy Marshal Walter J. Fernald received a telegram Tuesday announcing the death of his sister-in-law, Mrs. George W. Fernald in Hanton, N. H. Mrs. Fernald had but recently returned from St. Petersburg, Fla., where she was taken sick. The deceased was formerly Etta Sylvester of Portland, and since her marriage to George W. Fernald, had resided principally in Hanton and Fitchburg, Mass. The funeral services were held this forenoon, and among those in attendance were Mrs. W. J. Fernald and Miss Adelaide Holmes of Rockland. Mrs. Fernald is survived by her husband and one son, James M. Fernald, U. S. N., who is now attending Naval School.

When the city put in the traffic siren for the fire department its first official use was for a roof fire at the residence of Mayor C. F. Snow. When the new outside system was completed recently its first alarm was for a blaze in the home of Capt. Fred Cheyne of Central Fire Station. Now the fire fans are wondering who will draw the first alarm honor (?) on the new diaphane whistle. Engineer Humphrey tested out the line this morning and found it excellent. The completion of the installation will take place this week. Those who have watched Mr. Humphrey at work find it a pleasure to see such exact, painstaking artisanship but Mr. Humphrey takes pride in his record, 35 years of Gamewell fire alarm installation with not one failure.

Next a 10-string "rubber" between Charles Lewis and Frank Gardner, and to wind up the evening's entertainment there will be a five-string match between two teams which have averaged 491 during the winter.

"I'd Walk Miles For Tanlac" Says Maine Matron

Mrs. Amanda Cole, 17 years in Saco, spent a small fortune to win back health. Nothing helped till she tried Tanlac. Now a model of robust vigor, she gives due praise to Tanlac.

"I was slipping downhill for four years," said Mrs. Cole recently. "I was weak and nervous, pale as a ghost, and my lips were a dull purple. I could digest nothing. Even the lightest food lay like lead in the pit of my stomach. Violent cramps and gas pains kept me in constant misery. My nerves gave way and restful sleep was out of the question. Dizzy spells, too. I couldn't leave the house at last. A druggist friend recommended Tanlac, as several of his customers had been helped by it. I had almost lost faith in remedies by then for I had spent a small fortune trying them. But the longest day I live I will praise Tanlac for what it did for me. It just made me a new woman in a little while. In my youngest years I never was better than I am right now. I've won back my lost weight and a little more—12 pounds in all. I'd walk two miles for Tanlac, and wouldn't be without a bottle in the house."

This world-renowned remedy is made from nature's own herbs, roots and barks. Your druggist has it. If your health is below par get a bottle today. Over 52 million bottles already sold.

NORTH APPLETON

Uriah Norton Dyer

In the passing of Uriah Norton Dyer which occurred the morning of March 17 the community at large experiences the feeling of a distinct personal loss. Genial and social by nature, his work that of a painter and worker in wood, has brought him in contact with a large circle of people who became his friends and who highly treasured the bond thus uniting them. What can we say of this remarkable man's work with the brush and the pen and the tools of the artisan? Absolutely nothing! We must let the masterpieces, the product of that skillful hand and trained eye, speak for themselves. Suffering a stroke of paralysis on March 4, he gradually failed until the end came peacefully, cared for faithfully by friends, and a brother and his wife from Illinois, and a sister from New Hampshire. Mr. Dyer was three times married. First to Miss Lydia Shepherd of Appleton, next to Miss Annie F. Dyer of Searsmont, and last to Miss Anna Farr of Vermont. These companions of his joys and sorrows had all preceded him to the Great Beyond. One of a family of 11 children of whom but five remain. Alexander of Consul, Saskatchewan, Can.; George, somewhere in the Northwest, Harry of Great Falls, Ill., Eddie and Alma, both of Concord, N. H. The services were held Sunday from the Union Church, Appleton, in charge of H. B. Bowes, with several selections sung by a mixed quartet, consisting of Mrs. Ada Barnes, Mrs. Mary Ness, F. S. Meserve and J. B. Gushee. The Masonic service by the Quantabcook Lodge of Searsmont, of which the deceased was a past master and faithful member for many years, was impressively rendered. The burial was in the family lot in Pine Grove cemetery. His age was 78 years and 6 days.

Ye Olde Tyme Minstrels

"Ye Olde Tyme Minstrels" appeared Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 21 and 22, at the new Town hall and were greeted both evenings by a large audience and presented a fine program with the following cast: Middle man, Elmer M. Crockett; ends, L. True Spear, Burton Stevenson, Melvin Wall, Walter Nutt, Roland Crockett, Roland Richards; circle, Stanley Rhodes, Walter Whittier, Lew Bridges, Leon Poland, Lloyd Rhodes, Alton Brown, Clifford Reed, Herbert Crockett, Fred Miller, Philip Spear, Fred Achorn, Clara Achorn, Raymond Payson, Maynard Graham; chorus, Casper Duncett, Marion Upham, Dorothy Upham, Ruth Upham, Helen Crockett, Virginia York, Doris Wellman, Gertrude Noyes, Dot Poland, Dot Wentworth, Dot Bowden, Mary Fourn, Cora Robbins, Bessie Wall, Peggy Poland, Ruth Crockett, Catherine Roberts, Lewis Duncett. Program, First Part—Overture, opening chorus; "I Want to Go Tomorrow," Spear and Nutt; "How Is Every Little Thing in Dixie," Burton Stevenson; "When the Midnight Choo Choo Leaves for Alabama," Roland Richards; "Lam, Lam, Lam," Philip Spear; "When Old Bill Bailey Plays the Ukulele," (Melly) Well; "Are You From Dixie," Roland Crockett; "Will You the Sun Shines Nellie," Lloyd Rhodes; "All That a Sinner Needs," Walter Nutt; "Tuck Me to Sleep in My Old Tucky Home," Stanley Rhodes; "Memories," Alton Brown; "Won't You Come Home Bill Bailey," L. True Spear; program, second part—interlocutor, Marion Upham; ends, Cora Robbins, Bessie Wall; songs, "Mary Lou," Doris Wellman; "Give Me a Ukulele," Misses Robbins and Brann; "Ting a Ling," Gertrude Noyes; "Dixie and Dreaming," The Misses Upham, Dot Bowden; Before and After, Lew Bridges; Picanniny dance, Misses Wellman and Noyes; The Shooting of Dan McGrew (As You Like It); Reader, L. True Spear; Bar Tender, (Juke) Crockett; Lady Lou, (Fat) Brown; The Man from the Creek, Raymond Payson; Dangerous Dan McGrew, (Pet) Philbrook; Polk Dance, Thalis Spear, Caroline Graham; closing chorus by entire company—"Tessie."

The entertainment from beginning to end was one of the best of its kind ever given in Rockport. The stage setting, the unusually large string chorus, carefully trained by Albert T. Adams, all reflected credit on those who were in charge. Elmer M. Crockett was excellent in his part, and the end men in their jokes and personal hits were good. L. True Spear and Walter Nutt in their song, "I Want to Go Tomorrow," were especially good. Burt Stevenson both as an end man and soloist was one of the best. Roland Crockett, Roland Richards and Philip Spear all gave good voices and rendered their solos well. Miss Bailey in her song, "When Old Bill Bailey Plays the Ukulele," was a good character and sang well.

Roland Crockett and Lloyd Rhodes were entitled to the applause which they received as was also Walter Nutt who is at home on the stage and is a good soloist. "Tuck Me to Sleep in My Old Tucky Home," sung by Stanley Rhodes was one of the best numbers on the program. Alton Brown sang the pretty melody, "Memories" and was recalled and followed by L. True Spear, who sang with credit to himself on this, as on other occasions. The second part of the program was an especially pleasing part, when the young ladies were introduced with Miss Marion Upham as interlocutor, and her part was well taken.

The costumes were unusually attractive and becoming. On the ends were Miss Cora Robbins and Miss Bessie Wall. Miss Doris Wellman sang "Mary Lou" very sweetly with whistling chorus, and the duet "Give Me a Ukulele," by Miss Cora Robbins and Miss Mary Brann was much enjoyed and was also the solo by Miss Gertrude Noyes. "Dixie and Dreaming," by the Misses Upham was sung with credit to themselves.

The chorus song by Dot Bowden and Lew Bridges is worthy of special mention. The Picanniny Dance by the Misses Wellman and Noyes was one of the best features of the program. "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" was well acted. The Polk Dance by Miss Thalis Spear and Miss Carolyn Graham was very pretty and gracefully done.

The executive staff included Musical director, Albert T. Adams; business manager, Walter Nutt; treasurer, Edwin H. Bowers; advertising manager, Wiley Philbrook; property manager, Stanley Ireland; stage manager, Roland F. Crockett; janitor, Edwin T. Simmons. The proceeds which were $150 will go towards the new Town hall. Walter Nutt as business manager and Albert Adams as musical director have worked admirably to make the affair a success and are deserving much credit, and all who have in any way assisted are worthy of mention. The excellent music by Dean's Orchestra, Camden, added much to the fine program.

Principal Clunie Speaks Well of the R. H. S. Basketball Team.

Appropos of the friendly spirit that existed between Rockland High School and Lincoln Academy during their recent very sharply contested basketball game, Coach Louis B. Cook of Rockland has received the following explanatory letter from Principal Robert Clunie, Jr., of Lincoln Academy, coach of the team and square shooting sport lover:

March 15, 1927.

I received your telegram while in Lewiston and want to thank you for the boys and myself for the message as well as the fine spirit that prompted the sending of the same.

I want to tell you that I use all feel mightily free to know that we were "with us."

I was both surprised and disappointed at Rockland's not being selected for the tourney. I felt right along that both our teams should have gone, but of course there is no telling what prompted the committee to select but one of us.

I wish you would tell your boys for me that we at Lincoln think that they had a mighty fine team and that we have only the best of respect for them as individuals and as a team.

With best wishes for your continued success, I am,

Sincerely yours,

Robert Clunie, Jr.

A party of some note took place last week at the Grace street kindergarten when some of the parents helped the kiddies entertain in honor of Miss Phyllis Wyllie, their teacher. A large birthday cake was the center of attraction and pink ice cream helped in the color scheme. Miss Wyllie was presented with a pair of earrings and a bottle of her favorite perfume. All joined in wishing her a very happy birthday. Miss Wyllie is a popular teacher among the kindergarten grades, and one who understands the whims and fancies of little folks.

Despite the storm Monday evening the attendance of Ruth Mayhew Tent was fairly good and the occasion a very pleasant one. The auction was particularly enjoyable and all present expressed the desire for another party at the next regular date. Miss Ethel Thomas gave some fine recitations which were much appreciated. Mrs. Mabel Cross gave a clever hit by a Finnish farmer, which evoked much laughter. Beside Sullivan closed the program with a piano solo and responded with a lively patriotic medley as encore. FRANK W. FROST

The funeral of Frank Wells Frost, well known salesman at Knueper and Dimmock Music Store was held in Lawrence, Mass. last Thursday on what would have been his 46th birthday.

The friends and family were shocked by the sudden death of this young man, who passed away Tuesday morning of last week at his late home on Bruce street, following a short illness with pneumonia. Mr. Frost was born in Bangor, March 17, 1881, the only son of Frank and Carrie H. Frost of that city. He was educated in the public schools there and graduated with honors, being one out of a class of 40 to have one of the honor parts. Soon after his graduation, he went west, where he was associated in business with his father, the late Frank Frost of Bangor.

After his father's death he came east to make his home with his widowed mother, whom he has tenderly cared for, being a very devoted and loving son. He then held a responsible position at the City hall at Bangor for a number of years, and was highly respected and loved by all who knew him for his honesty and loyalty. He then went into the music store of Rice & Tylor as a piano salesman, where he was very successful and well liked. He later was employed by the Wentworth Music Co. of Waterville, Maine, coming to this city five years ago and was employed at Knueper & Dimmock store until the time of his death. He was married May 27, 1922 to Mrs. Annie Louise Beaton of Rockland, who survives him, two step-sons, Clyde B. Beaton, a senior in the Lawrence High School and William F. Beaton of Johnstown, N. Y. The large display of floral tributes from his many friends showed the esteem in which he was held.

Services were conducted at the late home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. William Ware Locke, pastor of the Unitarian Church.—Lawrence (Mass.) Times.

THE DOLLAR'S WORTH

The purchasing price of the dollar in February of this year compared with the corresponding month in 1913 was about 62½ cents, the State special commission on the necessities of life reported. A table of average retail prices compiled by the commission indicated that in February the cost of living index had dropped about 4 percent compared with February 1926, which was approximately one-half of the percentage decline in wholesale prices. The change was attributed chiefly to lower food prices.

WATERPROOF SHADE CLOTH

A new washable shade fabric was a feature of the Industrial Exposition held in Washington a few days ago. It represents the latest development of the American Chemical industry for this purpose. This new Tontine shade cloth is a fine mesh fabric finished with pyroxilin, a chemical substance which preserves the fabric against the elements. The material is sunproof and can be easily renovated by scrubbing with soap and water. It has been especially constructed and chemically treated so that it will not crack or "pinhole." A stream of water was kept pouring on the shades at the Washington show, but it "ran off like water from a duck's back."

LOTS OF GOLD

The movement of gold, which played such an important role in economic and financial changes in post war days prior to 1924, has again become an important factor in the country's business, according to the Federal Reserve Board. The Board has called attention to the imports of gold in two months and mentioned that inbound shipments in January were greater than in any other month in five years.

Cemetery Memorials
PARK STREET, ROCKLAND

This does the work of 50 pounds of ice—and more—every day!

Be ready for hot weather—make your ice box a Frigidaire

If it were possible for you to keep your ice-box filled—constantly—24 hours a day—you would still not have as good refrigeration as the Frigidaire frost-coil will give you, without any attention on your part.

If you have any standard make of ice-box, you can have Frigidaire installed in it and from that time you can forget about refrigeration. Your meats, vegetables and other foods will be kept better than you were ever able to keep them before. Spoiled foods will be a thing of the past.

Come in and let us demonstrate Frigidaire to you.
